Development Resume

© EANM 2008

Advantage of opportunities and promoting development - these are the motives that inspire me to pursue new projects and enterprises.

In the course of my career, I have therefore sought again and again the dawn of challenging activities.

1978, Theology: The search for human origins, its meaning and its pursuit eventually get there, where there may be perfect happiness, were the motives to pursue the study of Catholic Theology under the Archbishop's Seminary in Vienna.

1980, Geography: The urge, to learn as much as possible about our world and its complexity in order to come close to the multidisciplinary challenges humanity is facing in the 21st Century, were the driving forces for this very complex study program with a specific alignment according to the specialization in Space Research and Planning.

1982, Austrian Academy of Sciences (ÖAW): Based on my excellent qualifications in the field of Urban Geography, I was given the opportunity to apply my acquired knowledge at the Institute for Urban and Regional Research at the Austrian Academy of Sciences already in the 3rd Semester of my University studies.

2001, Association and Conference Management: After intensive research activities, especially the practical application and implementation of the acquired knowledge potential has been my intention. As part of the corporate consultancy for the European Association of Nuclear Medicine (EANM), the Section of Nuclear Medicine of the European Union of Medical Specialists (UEMS) and the European Board of Nuclear Medicine (EBNM) I got the opportunity to gain insight into the complex functioning of those international NGO's, to develop these and to found new organizations accordingly.

2009, GAFÉIAS - Global Association for Environmental Investments and Sustainability of Economic, Social and Environmental Spheres: This organization was initiated by myself and founded together with two partners, in order to practically implement specialized knowledge on the topics of sustainability with a global perspective in the context of development cooperation projects.

2012, ahc – Principles of Success, Certificate for Sustainable Human Resource Management: Man and his quest to achieve a thriving environment, personal and economic goals are the focus of seminars on strategic principles of life and success and of a Certification of companies for sustainable human resource management.
